- 3 Passengers lucky enough to have been picked up by Carpathia arrived in New York City days later and started a frantic search for their loved ones, desperately hoping they too had been saved.
Collyer, a second-class passenger who was 31 years old, later described her panicked search for her husband: "There was scarcely anyone who had not been separated from husband, child or friend. Was the last one among the handful saved? ... I had a husband to search for, a husband whom in the greatness of my faith, I had believed would be found in one of the boats. He was not there." (Left: Collyer and her daughter, courtesy of Library
